As 2026 is being celebrated as the National Year of Reading, how do you think our school should use World Book Day to encourage everyone to read more?

- Turn classroom or classroom door into the book cover or scene from a favourite book and then invite other forms to come and visit
- Dress up as a favourite character
- Do an activity from a book e.g., tea party from Alice in Wonderland
- Create a dance routine from a book
- Play a book related board game
- Complete a games-based book e.g., read a page and then choose the next step and then read a bit more and choose the next step. Everyone's journey through the story is different
- Whole school story – choose a character, setting and a few objects at assembly on Monday and then each form is pulled from a hat to decide the order. Each form has the story in this order and writes a paragraph/ creates illustration's together before passing it to the next form. The story is shared at the next assembly and also typed up to be a book/ shared with parents on the iPad book store
- Each form acts out a story and the other forms have to guess what it is

What activities or changes would you like to see to help promote reading in our school?

- Play some reading games
- Have a class book and read this at the start or end of the school day
- Have the library open more often at dinner times and breaktimes
- Read to a school pet or toy sessions/share a book with a toy
- Rota's shared reading sessions with different forms
- More reading opportunities in Tutor Time Plus

How do you think we promote and encourage positive relationships in school?
